PIEDMONT PARK CONSERVANCY ASKS VISITORS TO FOLLOW PUBLIC HEALTH GUIDELINES

ATLANTA, GA, May 7, 2020. The Piedmont Park Conservancy, the nonprofit group that preserves and enhances Piedmont Park in Atlanta, is encouraging visitors to abide by public health guidelines to help everyone stay safe while enjoying their experience.

With nice weather and Mother's Day crowds expected this weekend, the Piedmont Park Conservancy asks all park visitors to observe these four guidelines:

- Do not gather with people outside of your household.
- Bring and wear masks during your visit.
- Follow social distancing requirements by staying six feet away from others.
- Plan to 'pack it in, and pack it out.' Be prepared to take your trash back home with you to reduce the impact of waste in Piedmont Park.

These guidelines will remain in place indefinitely.

Piedmont Park comprises more than 200 acres and offers a vast, beautiful refuge to Atlantans. By exercising personal responsibility and respecting the health and safety of others, visitors will help maintain the park's resources.
